Trekking in the Annapurna Region

After the Everest Region this is Nepal's second most popular trekking region. The main trekking routes in the Annapurna region follow the two major river valleys (the Kali Gandaki and the Marshyangdi) and the trail into the Annapurna sanctuary via Ghandruk and Chhomrong. Pokhara can be considered as the starting point for Trekking in the Annapurna region. The treks start or end a few kilometers from Pokhara.

The trek in this part of the country offers a great deal of cultural and geographic diversity. You pass through dense forest (colorful rhododendron forest during spring) to rocky dry trails. For most of the Nepal's length (east to west), the Himalayas form a boarder(great wall) between Nepal and China. Annapurna is different in that the boarders exist further north. So, Jomsom and Annapurna Circuit Trek both go to the north of the Himalayan watershed into the high altitude, dry, desert area which is characteristic to the Tibetan Plateau.

This is a popular trail with network of lodges(also known as teahouse) with a decent and friendly service. The entire region is administered by the Annapurna Conservation Area Project (ACAP) which is working to conserve the natural and Cultural resources of the area.

Currently Great Wall Nepal offers three popular treks in the Everest Region as a package tour:

Annapurna Circuit Trek – Flight Jomsom to Pokhara

Duration: 16 days

This is one of the most popular treks of the Annapurna region. The trek begins from Beshisahar anti-clockwise round Annapurna enjoying nature's beauty walking through Rhododendron forest and crossing the Thorong La Pass (5,416m), the highest point of the trek.

Annapurna Circuit Trek

Duration: 20 days

With this trip the Annapurna Region is best explored. The trek begins from Beshisahar anti-clockwise round Annapurna himal enjoying nature's beauty walking through Rhododendron forest and crossing the Thorong La Pass (5,416m), the highest point of the trek.

Jomsom Trek- Flight Pokhara to Jomsom

Duration: 12 days

It is another classic trek in the Annapurna region. The trail follows the Kali Gandaki Valley between the soaring peak of Annapurna & Dhaulagiri and finally, it emerges into the dry, desert- like Tibetan Plateau- Jomsom.
